

Lateness and truancy

Good attendance doesn't just involve being present in school – it also involves punctuality. You also have a responsibility to ensure that your child arrives to school on time, and stays in school during the day.

All pupils are expected to be in their classrooms at 8:40am every day, the register is taken at 8:45am. If pupils are not in their classrooms by 9:15am, they receive a 'U' mark – this is an unauthorised absence. If the school believes a pupil is truanting, immediate action will be taken – this can escalate to penalty notices.

How can I help?

You can help in many ways:

- Encourage good attendance by making sure your child goes to school regularly.
- Take an interest in your child's school work.
- Make sure your child understands that you do not approve of absence from school.
- Support our school in our efforts to control inappropriate behaviour.
- Inform us on the first day of your child's absence, and keep us updated throughout the absence period. No communication may lead to a home visit being conducted.
 - Provide medical evidence to support absence
- Cooperate with our school to make sure your child overcomes any attendance problems.

• Discuss planned absences with the headteacher and apply for permission well in advance.

Attendance matters! Don't underestimate the importance of 100 percent attendance.

Even one day missed can have an effect on learning:

- 98 percent attendance means four school days missed
- 95 percent attendance means 10 school days missed
- 90 percent attendance means 19 school days missed
- 80 percent attendance means 38 school days missed
- Five minutes late each day means three school days missed.

Please help us promote good attendance throughout our school – you really do play an important role!

If you'd like further information regarding attendance at our school, please see our Attendance Policy – downloadable from the school's website.

School attendance:

What parents need to know!

Why is good attendance important?

Good attendance and punctuality are vital for success at school, and to establish positive life habits that are necessary for future success.

Through regular attendance, pupils can:

- Build friendships and develop social groups.
- Develop life skills.
- Engage in essential learning and other school social events.
- Achieve to their full potential.
- Minimise the risk of engaging in anti-social behaviour and becoming victims or perpetrators of crime.

All parents should promote good attendance and work in partnership with their child's school to provide a cohesive approach.

What does the law say?

All children of compulsory school age – between 5-16 – must receive a suitable full-time education.

As a parent, you are responsible for ensuring that this happens, either by registering your child at a school or by making appropriate alternative arrangements.

Once you have registered your child at a school, you are also legally responsible for ensuring that your child attends school regularly. If you fail to do this – even if your child misses school without you knowing – legal action can be taken against you by the LA.

It is a legal offence to fail to ensure your child attends school regularly.

Legal action can involve a penalty notice or being taken to court. Parents also face the risk of imprisonment and parenting orders. Parenting orders involve attending a counselling and guidance programme, usually a parenting class.

A penalty notice of £60 per parent, per child may be issued as an alternative to prosecution, but this will rise to £120 if it is not paid within 21 days.

Failure to pay a penalty notice will usually lead to prosecution.

Can my child ever be absent?

When a pupil is absent from school, this will be classified as either 'authorised' or 'unauthorised'. The governing board and headteacher decide which absences are granted as authorised.

Authorised absences are only permitted for valid reasons, e.g.:

- Illness
- Medical or dental appointments
- Religious observances
- Family bereavement

Wherever possible, parents should always try to arrange medical and dental appointments during school holidays or after school hours.

If you child is absent due to illness over three consecutive days, you may be asked to provided medical evidence.

Home visits may be conducted following three consecutive days of illness

Unauthorised absences can include:

- Forgetting school term dates
- Oversleeping
- Repeated illness without medical evidence

- Absences which have not been explained
- Arriving at school after the register has closed
- Leaving school for no reason during the day
- Truancy before or during the school day
- Keeping pupils off school unnecessarily or without explanation
- Day trips or family outings
- Problems with uniform/clothing
- Birthdays and holidays
- Repeated illness without medical evidence

Holidays during term time

The school cannot be expected to authorise an absence for a holiday during term time. Taking holidays during term time means that pupils miss important school time – both educationally and for other school activities.

It will be difficult for pupils to catch up on work when they return to school. Only in exceptional circumstances may a holiday be authorised during term time – this will be decided by the headteacher.

It is the policy of St. Patrick's not to authorise holidays in term time. Exceptional circumstances do not involve cheaper costs, family availability or weather conditions. You can be fined if you take your child on holiday during term time without permission from the headteacher.

Requesting absences

Authorisation of absences are at the discretion of the headteacher. All absences, including for holidays, must be requested as far in advance as possible. If you think your child needs to be taken out of school, you should discuss the reasons with the headteacher as soon as possible. If the headteacher is satisfied with the evidence and the notice period, they will authorise the absence.
